LEMBERG is the capital of GALICIA, 185 miles S.E. of Cracow, and has a population of 206,574, of whom about 45,000 are Jews. It is situated on the railways to Sambor, Stanislau, Jarostau-Sokal, Rawa, Jaworow, Stojanow, Podhajee, Stryj, Cracow, Brody, Tarnopol, Czernowitz and Jassy. Here is a Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

Lemberg (Lwów) Chamber of Commerce & Industry, Akademicka, 17.

Its Export Inquiry Office supplies, free of charge, every kind of information concerning export trade from & commercial relations with Galicia. Correspondence in Polish, English, French & Italian. A separate office attached to the Chamber (office for revision & reclamation of railway duties), undertakes revision of bills on railway carriage & other duties & reclamation in order to recover excess payments of freight. The Technological Institution of the Chamber for promotion of handiwork & craft organizes associations of artisans & gives professional instruction for furthering technical & commercial progress in handicraft.

Export - Liga Pomocy Przemyslowej, Lemberg (Galizische Liga für Industrie und Gewerbeförderung), have established an Export museum in their own building at Lemberg, Panskagasse, 11. The Export Museum contains a complete selection of Galician products suitable for export as well as samples of such foreign goods which could be produced in Galicia cheaply & of good quality. The Export Office has an extended assortment of addresses & a public Export Library. It gratuitously offers its services for bringing foreign buyers into business relations with Galician producers.

Single samples are supplied free of charge, larger & valuable ones according to arrangement.

The offices of the Export Museum are open every day to visitors & for giving information.

In order to facilitate the export business with foreign parts a branch sample exhibition has been formed at the offices of Mr. Henry Barckmann, at Hamburg, Barkhof. Exporters are invited to call there, especially with their oversea customers

PILSEN (or PLZEN) is an industrial town in BOHEMIA, with 81,000 inhabitants. The breweries of Pilsen are famous throughout the world for beer, which is exported to all parts. The other manufactures are also very important, viz. brandies, malt, flour, cloth, leather &c. and Bohemian stone, granite and syenite polishers. Three railways pass this town, viz.: Prague-Nuremberg, Vienna-Eger, Dux-Eisenstein. Here is a Chamber of Commerce.

PRAGUE is the capital of the Kingdom of BOHEMIA, with a population of 223,725 (586,359 with suburbs). It is situated on the river Moldau, and is the centre of eight railway lines and is one of the most important towns of the Austrian Empire. Its manufactures are considerable, consisting of cotton and woollen manufactories, machinery, tanneries, breweries, sugar refineries; a large export trade is done in gloves, china &c. Here is a Chamber of Commerce.

Export Office of the Chamber of Commerce, founded 1893. Its purpose is to further & facilitate the export trade in the district of this Chamber of Commerce. It gratuitously offers its services to foreign firms & gives every kind of information as to the products & manufactures, as also the names & addresses of the exporters & importers of the district. Correspondence in Bohemian, Russian & all Slavonic languages, as also in English, French, Italian, German, Spanish & other languages

Export Society of Bohemia, Moravia & Silesia at Prague (Vyvozní spolek pro Čechy, Moravu a Slezsko v Praze), Jungmannova, 20. (Société d'exportation de la Bohême, de la Moravie et de la Silésie à Prague.) The society consists of about 1,500 members, is supported by the Government as well as by the Parliament & the Chambers of Commerce; it is organized according to the standard of the latest establishments of the kind, and its object is to spread abroad the knowledge of Bohemian products & their manufactured articles, & to further & facilitate the export trade as much as possible. The society sends its commercial representatives to travel abroad & furnishes foreign firms with names & addresses of those who are connected with or interested in the export trade of Bohemian goods & manufactured articles. A special inquiry office is kept where every information relating to all commercial transactions with this country is furnished gratis on application &c. See also KARLIN, KRAL. VINOHRADY, SMICHOV and ZIZKOV.

TRIESTE, at the N.E. extremity of the Adriatic Sea, is the principal seaport of the Austrian Empire. The imports and exports into and from the port of Trieste embrace every conceivable description of merchandise. Chief items of import are rice, coffee, jute, cotton, and coals; of export, sugar. The population was in 1910, 218,727. The port is the head quarters of the large fleet of steamers belonging to the Austrian Lloyd's Company. Here are vast dry docks for the repair of vessels, and a Chamber of Commerce and Industry, and a commercial museum (Museo Commerciale di Trieste).

There entered in 1912, 12,606 vessels, of 4,572,588 tons.

The total imports during 1912 were valued at £60,547,000, and the exports at £57,700,000.

At San Sabba, a few miles from Trieste, are great petroleum refinery works, where Black Sea petroleum is treated.

Lloyd's Agent, Edgar Henry Greenbam, via S. Lazzaro, 15.

VIENNA is the capital of Austria, situated on the Danube, and has a population of 2,031,498. It is the most important city of the Austrian empire. The industries of Vienna are of great importance, and its manufactures are sent to all parts of the world. Vienna is the centre of the Austrian railways, the seat of the Imperial court, parliament, ministries, high courts &c. Here is a Chamber of Commerce.

Imperial Royal Austrian Commercial Museum (K.K. oesterr. Handelsmuseum), Vienna, IX. Berggasse, 16. Director: Sectionsrat Dr. Friedrich Karminski. The object of this institute, which is supported by the Austrian Board of Trade, is to promote and develop the commercial relations of Austrian manufacturers and merchants abroad. The Commercial Museum keeps lists of Austrian manufacturers, exporters and agents, also of foreign buyers, importers, commission merchants &c., and supplies all information regarding the export trade. Foreign traders desiring to enter into business relations with Austrian manufacturers, exporters, importers, commission agents, forwarding agents &c. are invited to communicate direct with the Austrian Commercial Museum, Vienna, and the desired information will be furnished free of charge.

Vienna Chamber of Commerce, I. Stubenring, 10. For commercial information, to facilitate trade with foreign countries, files of Austrian producers, information re customs. All international telegraph codes at hand. Correspondence in 18 languages. All information free of charge.

Bund Oesterreichischer Industrieller, III. Schwarzenbergplatz, 4 (Industriehaus). Members: 2,600 firms of the Austrian industry with 500,000 workmen. Thirty-five sub-divisions in all the industrial centres. Supplies all information concerning the export of Austrian manufactured goods & addresses of producers.

HUNGARY

THE KINGDOM OF HUNGARY, the eastern of the two independent sections of Austria-Hungary, consists of Hungary proper, Transylvania (now completely incorporated with Hungary), Croatia-Slavonia and the territory of Fiume. The area of Hungary, including Croatia-Slavonia, is 324,851 square kilomètres, or 125,430 English square miles, and the population in 1910 was 20,886,487.

Agriculture forms the staple industry of the people, the principal crops being wheat, maize, oats, barley and rye. The country possesses great mineral wealth, iron, lignite, gold, coal, silver and copper being mined. The principal industrial products are iron and steel, machinery, earthenware, sugar, glass, flour, spirits, wines, chemicals and tobacco. The chief commercial centres are Budapest, Arad, Debreczen, Kassa, Raab, Temesvar, Klausenburg, Kronstadt, Hermannstadt and Eszek. The principal exports are flour, cereals, wine and wool, and the imports textiles, woollen goods, cotton yarn and raw tobacco.

The export and import trade of Hungary during 1912 amounted to Kronen 4,112,532,936.

BUDAFOK, see PROMONTOR.

BUDAPEST is the capital of Hungary, 130 miles S. E of Vienna, and has a population of 900,000 inhabitants, including the suburbs. It is the most important commercial town on the Middle Danube, and is the seat of the Hungarian Government. The town consists of Buda, Old Buda, and of Pesth. It is an important centre of all the railways and has some 500 factories. Here is a Chamber of Commerce.

There is a considerable commerce carried on here in every description of grain, flour and seed; also wines, wool, cattle and horses. Important fairs are held here four times a year which are visited by merchants from all parts of Europe. There are many extensive steam flour mills; also agricultural implement makers and merchants.

FIUME, with a population in 1910 of about 58,000, is the most important port for Hungary in the Adriatic. There exists a duty free territory, including four of the port's basins. This territory is provided with sheds and warehouses where foreign goods can be stored free from customs duties. Vessels are here allowed to deliver and take in cargo as was the case before, under the rule of the free port. Almost the whole trade consists of merchandise in transit and is increasing every year. Here is a petroleum refinery, probably the largest in the world, and the far-famed torpedo factory of Whitehead & Co. Ltd., also a paper mill, a tobacco manufactory belonging to the State, two vegetable oil refineries, and some important steam flour and rice mills, the latter for polishing raw rice (paddy) and for the production of starch.

The total number of vessels entered during 1912 in the foreign trade was 3,749 of 2,127,000 tons.

Here are two floating docks and a bonded warehouse and grain elevator. The principal imports consist of naphtha, rice and coal, and the principal exports corn, flour, grain, tobacco, wine and lumber.

ANTWERP, the chief port of Belgium and one of the great shipping and distributing centres on the Continent, has, with the incorporated suburbs Berchem and Borgerhout, a population of 402,328. This port, which, in point of tonnage, is the first seaport of the Continent, has magnificent docks and quays, and is one of the finest harbours in the world. The depth of water in the river has been so much increased that ships of 10,000 tons, and drawing 27 feet of water, can reach the quay. It is now proposed to extend the dock accommodation by cutting a new channel for the river Scheldt, together with a canal which will be 5 miles in length and have nine new docks in connection therewith.

The total number of vessels entered during 1912 was 6,973 of 13,761,591 tons. The number of British ships entered was 3,394 of 6,269,438 tons.

Principal imports are grain and seeds of all kinds, wood, resinous and bituminous products, minerals, metals, hides, ivory, rubber, chemical products, textile fabrics, coffee and coal.

Principal exports are metals, grain, coal, thread, raw textile products, machinery and tools, hides, glassware, fabrics, cloth &c. and raw mineral products.

Here is a Chamber of Commerce (Société Commerciale), and a Rice Trades Association (Association des Rizeries).

BRUGES is the capital of the province of WEST FLANDERS, about 10 miles from the North Sea, with a population of 54,010. It is celebrated for its lace manufactures; there are also important tanneries, distilleries and chocolate factories. It is situated on the railway from Ghent to Ostend and on a canal connecting the town with the sea; there is a fine port capable of allowing vessels of 14,000 tons to reach the town, and it also possesses a vast basin for ship building. Here is a Chamber of Commerce.

COURTRAI is a manufacturing town, in the province of WEST FLANDERS, with a population of about 35,620 inhabitants. It is situated on the river Lys, 9½ miles N.E. of Tourcoing, and on the railways to Calais, Ostend, Ghent, Brussels, Namur and Lille. It has a large number of factories engaged in the manufacture of linen, laces, damask, yarn &c. which are largely exported. The finest raw flax is also extensively cultivated here, the prepared material being largely exported to Great Britain and Ireland, several English and Irish firms having buying establishments and representatives on the spot. There are also large manufactories of Belgian bed ticking.

GENTBRUGGE, see GHENT.

GHENT (Gand) is situated at the confluence of the rivers Lys and Escaut, and on the canal from Ghent to Terneuzen, by which the largest vessels can enter. It is the capital of East Flanders, and has, together with the suburbs of Gentbrugge, Ledeberg & Mont St. Amand, a population of 212,696. It is one of the centres of industry, commerce and navigation, and of the direct routes from the sea to North France, South-West Germany, Alsace-Lorraine, Switzerland and Italy. The port is capable of accommodating vessels up to 2,500 tons, and several services of steamers ply three times a week between Ghent and London, Liverpool, Leith, Goole, Hull and Newcastle.

There are many important establishments for cotton spinning and manufacturing, woollen manufactories, flax and tow spinning. It possesses celebrated horticultural establishments largely engaged in the export trade, and numerous tanneries.

Here is also a Chamber of Commerce.

LIÉGE is the capital of the province of the same name; population, 173,939. It is the centre of several railways, and of the iron and coal works in this district. Seraing is a suburb, with 38,173 inhabitants. Here are the famous iron works owned by the firm of Cockerill, where about 10,000 people are employed. The place is celebrated for its iron and steel manufactories and iron foundries and for the number and extent of the various industries connected therewith—its cannon foundries, its manufacture of side arms and every description of implements of war. Here is a Tribunal and Chamber of Commerce (Chambre de Commerce) and also a Commercial Union (Union Commerciale et Industrielle) and a Court of Appeal.

BELGIAN CONGO

THE CONGO INDEPENDENT STATE was formed from the territory formerly administered by the Congo International Association, founded in 1882 by Leopold II. King of the Belgians. The State was placed under the sovereignty of Leopold II. King of the Belgians, on the basis of personal union with Belgium, but it declared itself perpetually neutral in accordance with the provision of Chap. III. of the General Act of Berlin. The annexation of the State to Belgium was carried out by the treaty of November 28, 1907, approved by the Belgian Legislature in August, 1908, and by King Leopold II. in October, 1908. The Central Government is at Brussels. A Governor-General represents Belgium at Boma and administers the territories. The precise boundaries of the State were defined by the neutrality declarations of August, 1885, and December, 1894, after treaties with Germany, Great Britain, the Netherlands, France and Portugal. The territory is divided into 22 administrative districts: Lower Congo, Middle Congo, Kasai, Kwango, Lake Leopold II., Bangala, Equator, Ubangi, Aruwimi, Lulonga, Lower Uele, Upper Uele, Stanleyville, Lowa, Ituri, Maniema, Kivu, Sankuru, Lomami, Tanganyika Moere, Upper Luapula and Lulua. At the head of each district there is a Commissioner. The area is about 909,000 square miles and the population is estimated to be 8,000,000. The white population in 1911 (January) was 4,003.

INDIA RUBBER TRADE.—India rubber is obtained by incisions in the liane Landolphia Florida, which exists in all the territories of the State, and it is chiefly found in the Upper Congo districts. Principal wild rubbers: Landolphia owariensis, L. Klainei and clitandra Arnoldiana; also carpodinus gracilis.

The only exports of importance consist of india rubber, ivory, palm oil, palm nuts, white copal and cacao. Total value, 1911, £3,156,916.

Principal goods imported are cotton goods, woollen and cotton blankets, glass beads, coral, imitation jewellery, china, glass and earthenware, table utensils in tinware and iron, all cheap hardware goods, mercery, provisions and wines and spirits. Total value, 1911, £1,988,592.

COMPANIES ESTABLISHED IN THE BELGIAN CONGO STATE.—Abir Soc. Anon. (Antwerp); Cie. du Chemin de Fer du Congo (Brussels); Soc. Anon. Belge pour le Commerce du Haut Congo (Brussels); Cie. des Produits du Congo (Brussels); Cie. du Lomami (Brussels); Cie. du Congo pour le Commerce et l'Industrie (Brussels); Plantations de la Lukula (Brussels); Cie. des Chemins de Fer du Congo Supérieur aux Grands Lacs Africains (Brussels); Cie. du Katanga (Brussels); Comptoir Commercial Congolais (Antwerp); Cie. du Kasai, Soc. BULGARIA

THE area of Bulgaria in 1910 was about 38,080 square miles—viz., Bulgaria 24,380, South Bulgaria 13,700—with a population of 4,329,108. As a result of the war in 1913, between Turkey and Bulgaria, Greece, Servia and Montenegro, a considerable area to the South of Philippopolis was added to the kingdom of Bulgaria. This includes the towns of Gumuldjina, Soufli, and the ports of Xanthi and Dedeagatch. The people are chiefly engaged in the cultivation of cereals, tobacco &c. and the rearing of cattle and sheep. Coal and iron exist, but mining is not carried on to any large extent.

The principal trade is in cereals, wheat, rye, barley, oats and maize, cattle, wine, tobacco and silk. Attar of roses is also produced to a very large extent; the exports consist principally of grain, wool, hides, animal food products &c. The imports, principally from Austria, Germany and the United Kingdom, consist of textile fabrics, also coal and iron, metals, machinery, colonial goods, timber, furniture &c.

The total imports during the first 11 months of 1911 were valued at £7,019,833 and the exports at £6,631,404.

The British Minister at Sofia is Sir Henry George Outram Bax Ironside, K.C.M.G.
The Bulgarian Minister in London is Monsieur Michel J. Madjaroff, 51 Queen's gate S W.

RUSTCHUK (population of 50,000) is commercially the most important place in Bulgaria. Railway communication with Sofia and Varna. All Austrian, Roumanian, Hungarian and Russian steamers navigating the Danube touch here. It is the chief port for grain exports from North Bulgaria and for imports into the interior. Here is a Chamber of Commerce and Commercial & Industrial Museum.

DENMARK

ALTHOUGH one of the smallest kingdoms of Europe, Denmark is at the same time one of the most extensively cultivated. I fields and meadow lands are greater in extent than those of Portugal and Belgium, but little less than those of Sweden, and five times greater than those of Norway, and every year shows an onward movement in increased culture and improved agriculture. Being a country of few native industries, and depending mainly on the produce of the land and its live stock for subsistence, the prosperity of the country is affected considerably by good or bad harvests.

The area of Denmark is about 15,218 English square miles. The population of the kingdom on the 1st February, 1911, was 2,756,873.

The great bulk of the trade and shipping commerce of Denmark is with England, which deals almost exclusively with the Danish capital; for in addition to the trade of the country with England, as shown by the returns, it must be remembered that a considerable part of the Danish export trade consists of goods in transit to Great Britain.

COPENHAGEN, the capital and principal seaport, has a population of 585,800 (March 1, 1912).

The Copenhagen Free port is one of the best harbours of the world. Railway communication by steam ferries to the other parts of Denmark, to the continent and to Sweden and Norway, besides numerous regular steamers from Copenhagen to the Baltic and the North Sea, afford easy distribution of all goods transhipped in the Free port.

A fortnightly line of steam vessels runs between this port and New York. Wilson's line from Hull, Currie & Co.'s from Leith, and Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway Co.'s line from Goole every week. Hamburg-South American Packet Co. Lim., The East Asiatic Co. Lim. with steamers to the Far East &c. calling at Antwerp. The United Steamship Co.'s Line to New York and to New Orleans once a month, calling at Havre and Southampton, and from Newcastle every week; Slott & Co. Liverpool, fortnightly service between this port and Baltic ports; The Finland Steamship Co. Lim. by mail steamers to Hull and Finland ports twice weekly.

There is a Chamber of Commerce and also the Danish Export Association, Börsgade, 8.

Lloyd's Agent, Niels Johan Host, Kvæthusgade, 9B.

ESBJERG, on the west coast of Jutland; population (1913) 20,000. The harbour is of importance to the trade with agricultural products, being the nearest shipping place in Denmark to any port in England; also an important harbour for the import of many articles to Jutland. Several steamers run regularly with agricultural products thence to England and with cattle to Hamburg.

FREDERIKSHAVN is a town on the east coast of Jutland. The population is 8,091 (1912). There is railway communication with most of the towns on the east of Jutland, Schleswig Holstein, Hamburg &c. The harbour has a depth of water of 8 metres, affords good convenience for bunkering of steamers, and enables vessels to lie alongside the quays with 8 metres draft. Large quantities of butter, eggs, cattle and pork are shipped, and it has regular steam communication with Copenhagen, Gothenburg, Christiania, Christiansand and Newcastle. A large trade in fish is carried on.

FÄROE ISLANDS

THE area of the Färoe Islands is 540 square miles and the population is about 18,000. The capital is Thorshavn, population 2,097, situated in the middle of the Islands. These islands are an Amt or Department of Denmark.

A mail steamer now regularly plies between the islands. The steamship service has been much improved lately. The United Steamship Co. of Copenhagen (Royal Mail) (Leith agents, Messrs. Turnbull & Co.) has regular steamers, whose route is Copenhagen, Leith, Färoe Islands, Iceland and return. These vessels take mails and passengers and sometimes cargo. The same company have added a vessel which runs monthly throughout the year from Copenhagen, Leith, Färoe Islands and return; mails, passengers and freight. This vessel calls at numerous Färoese ports and returns to Copenhagen via Leith. By this company parcel post is conveyed direct between Leith and Färoe Islands; mark parcels "via Leith." Another company (Thor & Co., Copenhagen) has four freight steamers making monthly voyages, Copenhagen, Färoe Islands, Iceland (via Leith or Stavanger, Bergen) (Leith agents, Christian Salvesen & Co.). These steamers carry mail and passengers as well as freight. The Bergen Steamship Co. have now one steamer running during the summer months from Bergen to the Färoe Isles and Iceland carrying passengers and mails; the voyage takes about a month. In spite of the nature of the trade and the geographical position of the Islands, no British merchant vessels trade with the Färoe Islands.

COLONIES &c

THE possessions of Denmark consist of Iceland, with about 86,000 inhabitants; Greenland, with a population of about 12,000; and the Danish Islands of the Antilles, consisting of St. Croix, St. Thomas and St. John, with a collective population of 33,000. Trade in Greenland is a State monopoly.

ICELAND

ICELAND lies near the Arctic Circle and is nearer to Greenland than to Europe. It has an area of about 39,000 square miles, or nearly half the size of Great Britain, and in 1910 had a population of 85,089.

In Iceland there are few manufactories—some carding and spinning manufactories have been established during the last few years—it being found most profitable to export all products in the raw state, but knitted woollen articles are exported to some small extent. The bulk of the population live by rearing sheep and cattle, and some butter is exported to Great Britain, many dairies having been established in Iceland during late years. Mutton, beef and fish are also exported. Milk in various forms is the staple food of the inland districts.

The most important industry is the fishing, which includes the salting of cod, herrings &c. and also the production of fish manure.

The imports embrace almost every article of consumption and articles in general use.

The exports consist of salt cod, salt haddocks and small cod, salt ling, salted fish (not dried), dried fish, salt herring, salt salmon, cod sounds, salt roes, cod oil, shark oil, seal oil, whale oil, horses, sheep, wool (white and colored), salt mutton, tallow, sheep skins, lamb skins, eider down, feathers, woollen stockings, woollen gloves.

The bulk of the carrying trade to and from England is principally done by Danish and Norwegian vessels.

The best winter harbour in the island is Havnefjord, and after that Reykjavik—the capital—Isafjord and Ofjord or Eyjafjord. The harbours are never closed by ice on the south and west sides of the island, but frequently the Greenland drift ice blocks up the north and occasionally the east coasts in the winter and spring.

ROUTE.—The regular mail steamers of the United Steamship Company of Copenhagen make 25 voyages from Copenhagen to Iceland, calling at Leith and the Faroes. Three coasting-boats, owned by the Thore Steamship Company, make six to eight tours round Iceland in the months from April to October. Private enterprise has started new lines, and regular steamers are running between Iceland and Denmark, calling at some ports in Norway and the Faroe Islands. The Thore Steamship Company of Copenhagen is also carrying on a regular mail service, visiting Norway, Scotland, the Faroes and the principal ports in North and East Iceland in 32 voyages. The firm Louis Zöllner, Newcastle-on-Tyne, run some steamers making regular voyages, only with cargo, between several Icelandic and English ports during the summer months.

The principal towns, besides the capital Reykjavik, are Seydisfiord (East coast), Akureyri (North coast), and Isafjordur (West coast).

DANISH WEST INDIA ISLANDS

THE island of ST. THOMAS is about 13 English miles in length by 3 in average breadth, and has an area of about 70 English square miles and a population of about 13,000; it is formed by lofty hills mostly extending from east to west, the highest attaining an altitude of 1,480 feet at its highest point above the ocean level. The sea all round is studded by several small islets or "keys" belonging to the main island, and at about two miles distance north-east lies the large but thinly-populated island of St. John's, also Danish territory; to the south, the Danish island of St. Croix, 40 miles distant. There is a fine harbour where 200 vessels can anchor in safety, only exposed to winds from S.W. round by S. to S. to S.E. by E., but winds from these quarters seldom prevail. There are large coaling depôts and wharves, and steamers drawing 30 feet can coal alongside at the rate of 80 to 100 tons per hour, during day or night; a repairing slip where vessels of 1,000 tons can be hauled up; an iron floating dock, capable of lifting vessels of 3,000 tons weight, 300 feet keel and 20 feet draught; a steam factory with first-class means of repairing steamers requiring to refit; also ship-wrights' yards where work is well executed and a large supply of spars &c. kept on hand, as this port is resorted to by vessels in distress.

St. Thomas now furnishes goods but to a few of the neighbouring islands, including some parts of Haiti and St. Domingo, and still has several regular lines of steamers running here, which is their West India coaling station and for a few their head station, and is annually visited by a large number of sailing and steam ships of all nationalities, for coals, for provisions, for repairs and for freight employment.

ST. CROIX is situated between the 17 and 18 parallels of north latitude, distant 40 miles S.S.E. from St. Thomas, with which there is communication by a motor schooner carrying mails twice a week. The island is 23 miles in length, its greatest breadth being 6 miles. Agriculture forms the chief industry of the island and is almost exclusively confined to the cultivation of sugar cane and cotton. The industries are the manufacture of sugar, molasses and rum.

The principal sugar factories are: Den Vestindiske Sukkerfabrik; G. A. Hagemann, Estate La Grange; Lower Love Factory and St. Croix Sugar Central Factory. There are also factories (muscovado) on the Högensborg, Little Princess, Whim, and Concordia estates.

At the two ports of Christiansted and Fredericksted, the import and export trade is chiefly with the United States, with the exception of an occasional vessel from the Clyde, Denmark, and coals from England, introduced in Scandinavian vessels, for a St. Croix factory. There is some fruit trade done between the English Islands and St. Croix, but the boats are small sloops, about 10 to 15 tons register.

The population is 15,000.

CHRISTIANSTED,

situated in the north-east of the island, is the capital and seat of the Government.

These trains leave Paris-St. Lazare at 6.29 in the morning and at 6.46 in the evening, arriving in Paris-P.-L.-M. at 7.34 in the morning and at 7.55 in the evening, and correspond at the last station with the trains bound for the middle of France, Switzerland and Italy.

When returning these trains leave Paris-P.-L.-M. at 8.23 in the morning and at 7.44 in the evening, arriving at Paris-St. Lazare at 9.33 in the morning and at 8.47 in the evening, and correspond at the last station with the trains leaving at 10. ,, in the morning and at 9.20 in the evening for London.

Single tickets: 1st class, 1 fr. 30; 2nd class, 1 fr. 15.

CHEMIN DE FER D'ORLEANS.

What one can visit in France by using the Orleans Railway System.

The Orleans system situated in the heart of France, branches into the pleasant valley of the Loire, the south coast of Brittany, the beautiful scenery of the Centre and of Auvergne, and gives access to the Pyrenees, whose grand resorts and magnificent mountain scenery have long been celebrated. The Valley of the Loire is, as is known, richer than any other in its historic monuments and memories. There one can see the Chateau de Blois built by Louis XII and Francois I. which recalls many incidents of our Annals; Chambord, the marvel of the Renaissance epoch; Chaumont and Amboise, superbly placed above the river; Chenonceaux, so seductive by its situation in the bed of the Cher; Azay-le-Rideau, the present day museum of the Renaissance epoch; Ussé, Langeais, etc; Blois, Tours, Saumur, Angers are also in the same region of towns whose art curiosities are such as to engage the attention of the tourist

The south coast of Brittany, in addition to its ancient memories and old traditions, offers also a series of charming seaside resorts. They are in the neighbourhood of Nantes, Pornichet, La Baule, Le Pouliguen, Batz, Le Croisic, and in proceeding from Savenay to Landerneau, Quiberon, Belle-Ile, Concarneau, Beg-Meil, Douarnenez, etc.

In the Centre of France, the Orleans System enables one to visit La Creuse, praised by George Sand, le Berry and le Poitou whose churches and old buildings are so precious to the student, l'Angoumois, le Perigord, le Rouergue and l'Albigeois, each of which have some of the most curious nooks and corners of our old provinces. Here is also l'Auvergne of the Puy-de-Dome and of the Cantal with its fresh valleys and its thermal and climatic resorts (La Bourboule, Le Mont Dore (St. Nectaire), Vic-sur-Cère, Le Lioran, etc.) and the natural marvels of Haut Quercy (Rocamadour (Miers), Gouffre de Padirac, Grottoes of Lacave) which are a beautiful prelude to the fantastic gorges of the Tarn.

In the Pyrenees which can be reached either by Toulouse or Bordeaux and are served by the Midi System, the continuation of the Orleans line, there are the thermal resorts of Salies-de-Bearn, Les Eaux-Bonnes, Les Eaux-Chaudes, Cauterets, Bagneres-de-Bigorre, Luchon, Ax les Thermes, Vernet-les-Bains, Amélie les Bains, etc. Not far from Toulouse is Carcassonne full of memories of the Middle Ages, and in the South East are the well known bathing and summer resorts: Arcachon, Biarritz, St. Jean de Luz, Hendaye, Pau, frequented all the year round by a society and cosmopolitan concourse.

Pointing out for the last that at the two extremities of Pyrenees range open out the doors of Spain. By Cerbère, which is reached via Toulouse Narbonne—Port Vendres (boats for Algeria) one arrives at Barcelona and the east coast of the Peninsula; by Hendaye, which route is also that for Portugal, for Madrid, Andalusia and Morocco.

In order to facilitate touring in these rich regions the Orleans Co. offer to the public numerous combinations of tickets at reduced prices, single and return tickets for one person and for families, excursion tickets, etc.

The Company has also supplied all the facilities for rendering the travelling as pleasant and rapid and as least fatiguing as possible; sleeping cars and restaurants, trains de luxe "Sud Express" and "Pyrenees-Cote d'Argent," express day trains on the Paris-Bordeaux line, with smoking and ladies' saloons, etc.

For fuller information consult the "Livret Guide Officiel" of the Orleans Co., on sale, price 30 centimes, in the principal stations and town offices, or sent post free for 50 centimes by the Administration Centrale, 1, Place Valhubert, (Tourist-Travelling Office). Single and return tickets from London direct to the principal thermal resorts of the Auvergne, and to the thermal and summer resorts of the Golfe de Gascogne.

Billets d'excursion, a prix réduits, de Londres aux principaux points de la Vallée de la Loire.
Les Compagnies anglaises du South Eastern et du London, Chatham et Dover délivrent, conjointement avec les billets internationaux, des billets d'excursion aux châteaux des bords de la Loire et aux stations balnéaires de la ligne de St-Nazaire au Croisic et à Guérande.
